

STATE OF MICHIGAN
IN THE THIRD JUDICIAL CIRCUIT

ADRIENNE MARJORIE ROCKENHAUS,
Petitioner,

v.

CONRAD ALAN ROCKENHAUS,
Respondent.

Case No. 26-102221-PP

Hon. Yvonna C. Abraham

Hearing: April 29, 2026 at 11:30 AM (Zoom)

SUPPLEMENT TO RESPONDENT'S MOTION TO TERMINATE PERSONAL PROTECTION ORDER

(Adding Documentary Evidence to Section VIII of the Omnibus Motion in Limine; Filed in Support of Hearing on April 29, 2026)

I. INTRODUCTION

Respondent CONRAD ALAN ROCKENHAUS, appearing pro se, respectfully submits this Supplement to his Motion to Terminate Personal Protection Order, filed March 12, 2026, for the limited purpose of placing before the Court documentary evidence, recently captured and preserved, that materially strengthens Section VIII of the Omnibus Motion in Limine (fear testimony contradicted by Petitioner's contemporaneous public conduct).

This Supplement does not raise new arguments. It supplies an exhibit (Exhibit F-9) and the attendant evidentiary recitation in support of an argument already pleaded.

II. SUMMARY OF SUPPLEMENT

The PPO Petition recites that Petitioner has been in fear of Respondent throughout the period preceding her February 20, 2026 filing. Section VIII of Respondent's Omnibus Motion in Limine previously identified the February 14, 2026 "Happy Valentine's Day, Conrad" public post and the "Justice for Conrad" advocacy thread as documentary evidence directly contradicting that recitation.

This Supplement provides documentary depth to that argument. Specifically:

1. Twenty thousand public posts captured from Petitioner's verified X (formerly Twitter) account @adezero show that Petitioner posted to a public audience at an average rate of 45 posts per day across the 169 days of the alleged-fear period, a posting volume incompatible with experiential withdrawal driven by fear of Respondent.
2. A November 25, 2024 post from Petitioner's verified account, approximately three months before the PPO petition, publicly identifies Respondent as "the best thing that could ever happen to me" and "a woman respecter."
3. Across the entire 20,000-post corpus, Petitioner did not once publicly mention the PPO petition or publicly characterize Respondent as the perpetrator of any sexual assault. The petition's sworn sexual-assault allegation has no contemporaneous public-record antecedent.
4. A February 14, 2026 sequence of posts, six days before the PPO filing, contains Petitioner's contemporaneous admission that she "refused to pick him up" at federal release and was deliberately leaving Respondent in conditions where "if he seizes on the street or dies, their immunity is destroyed."

5. A Solana blockchain transaction record establishes that approximately $128,000 in cumulative USD value moved through a memecoin publicly created under Respondent's name during the alleged-fear period, with approximately $63,000 flowing to a deployer wallet publicly designated as routing fees to Petitioner.

The corpus and blockchain record are documented at Exhibit F-9, transmitted herewith.

III. THE OPERATIVE LEGAL STANDARD

Under MCL 600.2950(4)(b) and (c) and the predicate findings required for issuance and continuation of a PPO under Michigan's Domestic Relationship PPO statute, the Court must find that the petitioner is reasonably likely to suffer the type of harm the statute is designed to prevent absent the order, and that the conduct alleged constitutes stalking, harassment, or otherwise prohibited contact within the statutory definitions.

The Petitioner's burden, on a motion to continue an ex parte PPO over respondent objection, is to make this showing by a preponderance of the evidence. Pickering v. Pickering, 253 Mich App 694 (2002).

Where the petitioner's contemporaneous, public, voluntary conduct is materially inconsistent with the fear narrative the petition asserts, that contemporaneous conduct is admissible as direct evidence on the credibility of the fear allegation and on the petitioner's ability to satisfy the statutory predicate. See MRE 401, 403, 613 (prior inconsistent statements), 801(d)(2) (party-opponent admissions), 902(7) (self-authenticating trade inscriptions).

IV. THE DOCUMENTARY RECORD: VOLUME AND CHARACTER

Exhibit F-9 documents a handle-targeted capture of 20,000 public posts from Petitioner's verified @adezero account on the X platform. The corpus has the following characteristics:

Metric	Value
Total posts captured	20,000
Period covered	January 2, 2023 through April 23, 2026
Account verified blue-check status	Continuous
Posts on day of Respondent's federal custody (Sept. 4, 2025)	25
Posts during alleged-fear period (Sept. 4, 2025 through Feb. 19, 2026)	7,577
Average daily posts during alleged-fear period (169 days)	44.8 per day
Posts containing "PPO" as a word-boundary token	0
Posts containing rape, sexual-assault, or molest allegations against Respondent	0

A petitioner who fears the respondent does not post publicly under the respondent's name at an average rate of 45 posts per day across the period of alleged fear. The volume itself defeats the experiential reading the PPO Petition recites.

V. PARTICULAR POSTS DISPOSITIVE OF FEAR ALLEGATION

The following six categories of posts in Exhibit F-9 are individually and collectively dispositive of the fear narrative the Petition recites.

A. Petitioner's November 25, 2024 Direct Public Praise of Respondent

Approximately three months before filing the PPO Petition, Petitioner posted from her verified @adezero account (Tweet ID 1861116675770437849):

*"I'm not afraid of you anymore, and I will never have to be again.
My husband is the best thing that could ever happen to me, I love him so much♥ @RockRockenhaus is a woman respecter."*

The post is verified, public, and dated. The first-sentence "you" in "I'm not afraid of you anymore" refers to Brian Zaiger, an abusive ex-partner of Petitioner who was charged with Domestic Violence in connection with an incident involving Petitioner with an offense date of September 18, 2018, in Ypsilanti, Michigan: State v. Zaiger, Case No. 2018-18S-00735-SM (Washtenaw County). The case is a matter of public record on the Washtenaw County criminal docket. The identification is supported by two independent sources: (a) Respondent's personal knowledge from the parties' marriage, during which Petitioner discussed Mr. Zaiger and the 2018 Ypsilanti incident; and (b) Petitioner's own verified-account post on January 31, 2026 at 23:53 UTC (Tweet ID 2017748015331622920), in which Petitioner publicly names "zaiger" and states, of her own involvement with him, "I really should have asked myself why I did." That January 31, 2026 admission is itself admissible against Petitioner under MRE 801(d)(2) and confirms that Mr. Zaiger is the "you" of the November 25, 2024 anchor.

The post structures as a direct affirmative contrast between Petitioner's prior abuser (Mr. Zaiger, the "you" of sentence one) and Respondent (the husband of sentences two and three): she is no longer afraid of Mr. Zaiger because Respondent, the "woman respecter" and "the best thing that could ever happen to me," is the protective contrast to that prior history. The second and third sentences contain unambiguous public statements that Respondent is "the best thing that could ever happen to me" and "a woman respecter." These are direct exonerating statements admissible against Petitioner under MRE 801(d)(2) and, taken together with sentence one, defeat the PPO predicate of present fear of Respondent.

B. The 7,577-Post Volume Across the Alleged-Fear Period

Beginning September 4, 2025, the day Respondent was taken into federal custody, and continuing through February 19, 2026 (the day before the ex parte PPO issued), Petitioner posted 7,577 times to her verified @adezero account, an average of approximately 45 posts per day. Posts in this period consistently identified Respondent by his full legal name and the affective frame "my husband, Conrad Rockenhaus." On September 17, 2025, Petitioner posted to a public audience that produced 38,325 views: "My husband, disabled combat veteran Conrad Rockenhaus, has DISAPPEARED from federal custody... His location is unknown." (Tweet ID 1968299024882032880.)

A petitioner who fears the respondent does not publicly demand that the federal government disclose the respondent's whereabouts on a verified account averaging 45 posts per day across the alleged-fear period.

C. Petitioner's October 14, 2025 Federal-Court Credibility Adjudication (Per Petitioner's Own Admission)

By Petitioner's own February 14, 2026 verified-account admission:

"On October 14, 2025, Judge Stephen J. Murphy III dismissed my reports of sexual harassment, gunpoint raids, and medical neglect as 'his wife's behavior.'"

Petitioner publicly admits that on October 14, 2025, approximately four months before swearing similar allegations under oath in the present PPO Petition, a U.S. District Judge presiding over Respondent's federal proceedings dismissed Petitioner's sexual-harassment reports as a credibility issue with her conduct rather than the conduct she alleged. The October 14, 2025 adjudication is admissible against Petitioner under MRE 801(d)(2) on the question of her general credibility as a sworn-statement witness.

D. Petitioner's February 1, 2026 Public Mockery of "Narc Abuse" Narratives

Nineteen days before filing the PPO Petition, Petitioner posted (Tweet ID 2017967475002880253):

"Ex-partners love utilizing 'Narc Abuse' narratives on social media to justify their role in a man's downfall."

A direct prior inconsistent statement under MRE 613. Petitioner publicly mocked the exact rhetorical posture she would adopt under oath in her PPO Petition 19 days later.

E. Petitioner's February 14, 2026 Pre-PPO Statements of Strategic Abandonment

Between 17:01 and 18:34 UTC on February 14, 2026, Petitioner posted 40 sequential tweets in 90 minutes. Two of those posts contain admissions:

17:39 UTC, "Conrad releases March 2. I refused to pick him up. I demanded a direct transfer to the VA. Why? Because the moment VA doctors see his charts, the BOP's 'medical records' become a documented Crime Report against the DOJ."

17:45 UTC, "That is the textbook definition of 'State-Created Danger.' I refused to pick him up. I will not act as the cleanup crew for the murder they manufactured. If he seizes on the street or dies, their immunity is destroyed."

The 40-post sequence concludes at 18:34 UTC with Petitioner's own self-aware acknowledgment: "Sorry for all the tweets today. Sometimes I need a 'brain dump' to continue functioning."

These are direct admissions, in Petitioner's own contemporaneous words on her verified public account, that six days before filing a sworn PPO petition characterizing Respondent as a threat to her safety, Petitioner had refused to pick Respondent up at federal release and was deliberately calculating his potential death as litigation leverage. The admissions are admissible under MRE 801(d)(2) and are materially inconsistent with the PPO predicate.

F. The Solana Memecoin Blockchain Record (Counterclaim ¶31 Corroboration)

Beginning September 22, 2025, an unidentified third party publicly created a Solana memecoin under Respondent's name (contract address 8Edpgmsy4kk3vzZ26nRBQJot7jVkrZjAMXHWJzozBAGS). Public X posts on the day of token creation publicly stated that "100% of the fees [were] going to his wife @adezero." The complete public Solana blockchain record establishes that across the token's life, 949 transactions moved $127,986.65 in cumulative USD value, with $63,002.09 of that value flowing to the deployer wallet FhVo3mqL8PW5pH5U2CN4XE33DokiYznUwuGpH2hmHLuM that third-party posts publicly designated as routing fees to Petitioner.

This Supplement does not contend at this stage that Petitioner controlled the deployer wallet or received realized cash from the token. That determination is properly directed to discovery on Counterclaim ¶31. The blockchain record is offered as documentary evidence that a substantial financial stream existed under Respondent's name during the alleged-fear period, was publicly designated to Petitioner's benefit, and was not publicly disavowed by Petitioner on her verified account.

VI. INTEGRATION WITH SECTION VIII OF THE OMNIBUS MOTION IN LIMINE

Respondent's Omnibus Motion in Limine, Section VIII, previously sought to exclude testimony from Petitioner advancing a fear narrative inconsistent with her contemporaneous public conduct. The arguments and authorities at Section VIII are incorporated by reference.

The 20,000-post @adezero corpus and the 949-transaction Solana blockchain record documented in Exhibit F-9 supply a continuous documentary record across the alleged-fear period that materially expands the contradiction Section VIII identifies. The Court is asked to:

1. Admit Exhibit F-9 into the hearing record.
2. Take judicial notice of the public-record character of the materials in Exhibit F-9 pursuant to MRE 201(b)(2) (facts capable of accurate and ready determination by resort to sources whose accuracy cannot reasonably be questioned).
3. Apply the contradiction documented in Exhibit F-9 to the credibility analysis required for any continuation of the PPO over Respondent's objection. Pickering, supra; MRE 401, 403, 613, 801(d)(2), 902(7).

VII. RELIEF REQUESTED

WHEREFORE, Respondent respectfully requests that this Court:

- a. Admit Exhibit F-9 ("Petitioner's Contemporaneous Public Conduct") into the evidentiary record of the April 29, 2026 hearing on Respondent's Motion to Terminate;
- b. Consider the documentary record at Exhibit F-9 as direct supplementation of Section VIII of the Omnibus Motion in Limine;
- c. Terminate the Personal Protection Order entered February 20, 2026, for the reasons set forth in the underlying Motion to Terminate as supplemented by this filing; and
- d. Grant such other relief as the Court deems just and proper.

Respectfully submitted,
