

1 for marijuana again. The probation officer later discovered
2 that one of the devices had been remotely wiped clean after he 3 seized it.

4 Now, Your Honor, the defendant comes before the Court
5 at the age of 43. He does have some reported physical and 6 mental health issues and he is a decorated navy veteran. He is 7 well educated with a master's degree in computer and 8 information science. These are all positive and weigh in favor
9 of leniency.

10 However, he also has a very -- he has a long history
11 of noncompliance dating all the way back to 2011 with multiple 12 instances of failure to appear in state court, including 13 failure to appear for a jury trial. And in this case, in the 14 Eastern District of Texas he failed to comply with the terms of 15 his pretrial supervision which resulted in his bond being 16 revoked twice. This pattern of noncompliance has continued
17 throughout this case and into his supervision.

18 Now, of the sentencing factors, thus far I have 19 discussed the nature and circumstances of the offense, the 20 defendant's history and characteristics. We've talked about 21 restitution. But here deterrence is by far the most 22 significant factor of all. Of course, any sentence issued 23 today must be sufficient to deter others from violating the 24 terms of their supervised release, but most of all it needs to 25 deter the defendant himself.

1 The defendant received a second chance here to come
2 into compliance and avoid any further proceedings. Instead, he
3 breached the Court's trust, and in doing so he has proven
4 himself to be incorrigible, unsupervisable. True, his 5 violations are Grade C violations, one might say technical, but 6 there are many and they were repetitive and continuous. Again
7 and again and again the defendant failed to follow the rules or 8 comply with the conditions of his release, and he has done so
9 in a manner that could be reasonably perceived as indifferent
10 or even disdainful.

11 He has made it clear that there is no condition or 12 combination of conditions with which he is willing or able to 13 comply. He has made it clear that he does not respect the 14 process. And at the end of the day, Your Honor, the only way
15 to deter someone who doesn't respect the process is to revoke
16 supervision and impose a custodial sentence.

17 So based on the record, based on the sentencing
18 factors, it is the government's position that a custodial 19 sentence at or near the top of the guideline range is both 20 appropriate and necessary. And the government would further 21 ask that any sentence today include no further supervision and 22 that it also include an order requiring the defendant to comply 23 with the remainder of his restitution obligation, which is 24 approximately $511,208.43. Thank you.

25 THE COURT: All right. One thing before you sit

1 down. I don't -- and I'm not saying this is a bad -- in fact,
2 I'll speak to this in a minute. But I mean once -- once the
3 case is over, if I terminate supervised release, there's no --
4 there's no real governmental, how would you say it, incentive,
5 supervision or otherwise, to pay the restitution, right? I
6 mean that's going to be up to Mr. Rockenhaus, right?

7 MS. LAMBERT: That will indeed.

8 THE COURT: Right?

9 MS. LAMBERT: Yes.

10 THE COURT: All right. Okay. All right. Very good.
11 All right. Thank you.

12 I'm prepared to impose the sentence.

13 MR. PLOTKIN: Your Honor?

14 THE COURT: Come on -- come on up. You want to 15 respond?

16 MR. PLOTKIN: Regarding restitution, I just wanted
17 the Court --

18 THE COURT: Well, stay there, you can stay there.
19 Speak into your mic and...

20 MR. PLOTKIN: Yeah, 'cuz I know the Court inherited 21 this, so just to be clear, since rest -- and based on your 22 question just now, when he sold his home in Texas, the 23 government did collect approximately 52 or $53,000 which has 24 gone toward the restitution.

25 THE COURT: Okay.

1 MR. PLOTKIN: Which is probably more than most, as 2 the Court acknowledged can be done at times.

3 And one last thing, it's my understanding that there
4 will be a judgment lodged against Mr. Rockenhaus that exists
5 for 20 years, and his only way out from under that judgment is 6 to satisfy it. So that will be lodged against him --

7 THE COURT: Okay.

8 MR. PLOTKIN: -- whether or not he's on supervision
9 or not.

10 THE COURT: Okay. Why don't you and your client
11 stand up. I'll impose the sentence and we'll -- we'll move --
12 move forward.

13 With regard to the 3553(a) factors, I think both
14 lawyers summarized them accurately, and I would like to, as I
15 generally do, give my good graces and thanks to both lawyers
16 for excellent advocacy in a very difficult case.

17 Yeah, I hesitate to say this but I will because I -- 18 I think it's relevant. We -- we -- we have a lot of very 19 difficult cases around here, and I imagine I've done hundreds 20 of -- of supervised release violations in the time that I've 21 been sitting here and I've found this one to be particularly 22 difficult, not so much because of all the charge, as Mr.
23 Plotkin put it, or the extraneous noise that I talked about at 24 the beginning, but because I -- I just couldn't quite figure
25 out why we -- we got to this point.

1 I'm most grateful to, cognizant of, and aware of
2 the -- the military service and service to his country that Mr.
3 Rockenhaus gave. And in both here and at the guilty plea
4 arrangement he did not present as a person who would be 5 incorrigible or un -- unsupervisable or -- or efforting to 6 resist the efforts to supervise his reentry, get him in a 7 position where medically and psychologically he was able to,
8 you know, overcome the disability diagnosis that he had and to 9 have a fulfilling and -- and contributory vocation after his --
10 his prison sentence.

11 I am cognizant obviously, as I just mentioned, of the 12 medical and disability factors that Mr. -- that Mr. Plotkin put 13 forward.

14 X I do think that Mr. Rockenhaus, based on the record
15 I've seen here in front of me and the argument made by the 16 Assistant United States Attorney, is unsupervisable, and I'm 17 therefore going to revoke supervised release and not impose an 18 additional term.

19 And I guess the question is then what do we do. I
20 mean my instinct is -- and, you know, I'd -- I'd like to send 21 Mr. Rockenhaus home today and say that's the end, but I don't 22 think I can do that because¹ this is just an unbelievably
23 lengthy period of -- of noncompliance. And -- and to -- 24 normally I would address it with -- and I tried frankly on 25 May 24th or whenever we were here, I -- I tried to say I've --

1 you know, I've seen so many of these. If you come in here and 2 want to work and want to, you know, do what's necessary to 3 get -- to get back in compliance, I'm not going to put you in 4 jail. But, you know, the bottom line is this went on for a
5 long time up until May and it continued from May until August,
6 and I -- and I think a custodial term with no further
7 supervised release and -- and an amicable or maybe dis-amicable
8 parting between the federal government and Mr. -- Mr.
9 Rockenhaus is what we need to do here.

10 The question is how much time. The government
11 recommends the top of the guidelines. The defendant's been in 12 custody for almost two months. I think something at the low to 13 middle point of the guideline range is enough to say you've 14 done wrong, you've caused a lot of trouble, but we understand
15 that there's a big issue here.

16 * So accordingly, six months custody, United States
17 Bureau of Prisons, recommendation for treatment and therapy and 18 medication to the extent it can be accomplished in such a short 19 time, no further supervised release, and that'll be the end of 20 the case.

21 Objections from the United States?

22 MS. LAMBERT: No objections, Your Honor.

23 THE COURT: Objections from Mr. Plotkin?

24 MR. PLOTKIN: No objections, Your Honor.

25 THE COURT: Okay. Thank you very much.

1 Without objection, the sentence that I just stated
2 will be imposed.

3 Mr. Rockenhaus, you have the right to appeal your 4 sentence. You can appeal your conviction if you believe your 5 plea was unlawful or involuntary, if there's some other 6 fundamental defect in the proceedings that was not waived by 7 your guilty plea. If you want to appeal your sentence, you
8 also have a statutory right to do that under certain 9 circumstances, particularly if you think the sentence was 10 imposed contrary to law.

11 If you believe you have the right to appeal and you
12 want to assert it, you also have the right to apply to -- for 13 leave to appeal in forma pauperis. The Clerk of the Court will 14 then prepare and file a Notice of Appeal upon your request.
15 With few exceptions, any Notice of Appeal must be filed within 16 ten days of the entry of judgment.

17 The defendant's remanded to the custody of the 18 marshal.

19 Both parties have copies of the presentence -- or of 20 the violation report. Any additional copies are to be kept 21 strictly confidential, especially the recommendations section,
22 as is the practice of our district.

23 That will be the end of the proceeding unless we have 24 anything else from the lawyers.

25 But I would like to say, Mr. Rockenhaus, I don't have

1 any pleasure in entering a custodial sentence. I wish you
2 the -- the very best, but this didn't work out and I hope
3 things do for you in the future.

4 Anything else from either of the lawyers?

5 MS. LAMBERT: Yes, Your Honor. I would ask that you
6 just continue the restitution obligation on the -- on the 7 record.

8 THE COURT: Well, I mean he's got restitution until 9 he's -- until he's terminated with supervised release and then 10 I can't supervise the restitution, but that's part of the 11 criminal judgment in the case so I think that's all I need to 12 say about it, right, Mr. Plotkin?

13 MR. PLOTKIN: Yeah, my -- my experience over the many 14 years has been the federal government, that Department of U.S.
15 Attorney's Office files the judgment. It lasts for 20 years I 16 believe.

17 THE COURT: Yeah. I mean there's a restitution order
18 in the judgment out of Texas I tried to supervise during my 19 period on the case, payment of it. We are where we are. Some 20 has been made. And again, it's going to be up to the victim 21 and the federal government to do anything after supervision is 22 over. I attempted to broadcast that when I was making my 23 comments earlier, all right? Thank you all very much.

24 THE CLERK: All rise. Court is adjourned.

25 (Court in recess at 1:58 p.m.)

Hi adezero, we reviewed your entire protective order against your husband along with the exhibits since it was posted to pacer as part of a judicial notice. We posted some of it on KF but we wanted to verify some other information

There's a email from Feb 9 between you and the same Kaycee Berente that you didn't include in the protective order packet but there's a claim that this email was forwarded by Kaycee to your husband and he reacted to it by filing the motions you cited in your protective order. Is this email authentic?

Care to comment on Gunt's

Here's the PPO. Adrienne selectively uploaded parts of it to pacer. Conrad uploaded the whole thing (it's over 85 pages). Here's the first 14 that are interesting. Adrienne only wants us to see the first two pages - she doesn't want us to see that she is claiming Rockenhaus.com as her business, which is something Conrad pointed out in his federal filings, which Adrienne tried to then discount on her X account (I'll post those posts later) in a single, long, straight channel. In general, a wide channel is more likely to have more stable banks and a more uniform flow. The channel is usually straightened by cutting a straight line through the meanders and then filling in the old channels. This process is called channel straightening or channelization. It is often done to improve navigation, control flooding, and increase the efficiency of irrigation systems.

So here's some funny information... Adrienne Rockenhaus, after running her "Justice for Conrad" campaign after Conrad got arrested, obtained a protective order against him after accusing Conrad of repeatedly raping her throughout their marriage (here we go again, adezero claiming another man raped her) and kicked him out the day he got out of prison, making him home-less. He's claiming she stole all of his VA Disability Compensation. Huge drama unfolding, she's claiming that he's violating the PPO, he's claiming she's a cheater, she's claiming that Joe Pritch has moved into her house, and this is all unfolding on X.

I communicated with her on Signal, she thinks I'm Conrad and reported my communications with her as his violations of the PPO and is trying to get him arrested, so if you want to try to get this POS arrested, contact adezero.67 on Signal, just tell her that Avril would be disappointed, call her Addy, tell her she deserved to be raped, tell her that your name is Conrad Rockenhaus, it's kind of funny.

I texted Conrad, no response but he's obviously getting cucked.

Details from pacer:

Where is da ebidence

Here's the PPO. Adrienne selectively uploaded parts of it to pacer. Conrad uploaded the whole thing (it's over 85 pages). Here's the first 14 that are interesting. Adrienne only wants us to see the first two pages - she doesn't want us to see that she is claiming Rockenhaus.com as her business, which is something Conrad pointed out in his federal filings, which Adrienne tried to then discount on her X account (I'll post those posts later)

So here's some funny information... Adrienne Rockenhaus, after running her "Justice for Conrad" campaign after Conrad got arrested, obtained a protective order against him after accusing Conrad of repeatedly raping her throughout their marriage (here we go again, adezero claiming another man raped her) and kicked him out the day he got out of prison, making him homeless. He's claiming she stole all of his VA Disability Compensation. Huge drama unfolding, she's claiming that he's violating the PPO, he's claiming she's a cheater, she's claiming that Joe Pritch has moved into her house, and this is all unfolding on X

I communicated with her on Signal, she thinks I'm Conrad and reported my communications with her as his violations of the PPO and is trying to get him arrested, so if you want to try to get this POS arrested, contact adezero.67 on Signal, just tell her that Avril would be disappointed, call her Addy, tell her she deserved to be raped, tell her that your name is Conrad Rockenhaus, it's kind of funny.

EXHIBIT J : Respondent's Email to Third-Party Proxy

Description of Evidence: Timestamped screenshots of an email sent by the Respondent (Conrad Rockenhaus) from a burner account (conradrockenhaus2@gmail.com) to the Petitioner's nephew.

Relevance to Contempt: This exhibit provides undeniable, written proof of two distinct violations of the active Ex Parte PPO:

1. Stalking via Indirect Contact: The Respondent explicitly asks a family member to act as a conduit to bypass the Court's strict no-contact boundary.
2. Violation of Financial Injunction: The Respondent uses this illegal communication to attempt back-alley extortion regarding his "March funds" and marital assets, directly violating the Court's order prohibiting him from altering or negotiating financial accounts outside of lawful divorce proceedings.
3. Weaponization of Mental Health / Coercive Control: Within this email, the Respondent maliciously fabricates claims regarding my mental health and psychiatric medications (falsely stating I am "off my Abilify" and in a "severe mental health crisis").

Help With Adrienne -...

Rob,

I am reaching out to you because you are currently the only family member Adrienne is still in communication with. It is clear she is in a severe mental health crisis. I strongly suggest you reach out to her friend Annie at (248) 697-1728 (she asked that you text first so she knows it's you) to get the full details on Adrienne's state before you speak with her.

I'm not sure how much Adrienne has told you, but I was released this past Monday to find that our time together has run its course. Because of her recent actions, I am currently living in a homeless shelter with no access to my own money.

The VA is currently questioning the whereabouts of my March 1st Disability payment, which was deposited into her USAA account. They have confirmed she received it and expect me to have those funds for housing and food. Adrienne is refusing to release them. While the VA can recoup these funds directly, doing so would expose Adrienne to significant legal trouble. I am writing to you because I'm resolve this quietly through you.

I know for a fact she stopped taking her Abilify in September 2025; there is a recorded call from the jail where she tells me she can manage better without it. Her total estrangement from everyone but you confirms she is not in a stable place.

Regarding a previous crisis 18 months ago, I reached out to your Aunt Terry for help. She told me to take Adrienne to the ER, and I promised I would. However, Adrienne convinced me she would only be "safe" if I lied to Terry. I went along with it, and as a result, I broke my word to Terry. She gave me advice then that is ringing very true now. I owe her a major apology. If you could relay this or forward my email to her, I would appreciate the chance to make amends.

My only focus is getting my belongings and my March funds so I can move on. I have no desire to see or contact Adrienne again unless it's through a 3rd party. However, I understand Adrienne may not be able to work for a while and her trust has limits. Once my payments are redirected to my own account in April, I am willing to help her with $2,000/month to ensure
